

WEDDING MUSIC

You have chosen what colour the bridesmaids' dresses will be, what the choices for main course will be, whether to have chair covers or not and of course whether to have a DJ or a band at the reception... Don't forget about the most important part of the day, when you actually get married! The music you choose for your ceremony is one of the most personalised elements of that part of your wedding day and we have many options for you to choose from.

- Organ only (included in standard service rate)
- Choir of 10 children with organ plus director ($1300)
- Choir of 10 adults with organ plus director ($2600)
- Choir of 4-6 adults with organ plus director ($500 - $700)
- Solo soprano with organ ($250)

You can choose different music for different parts of your ceremony:

- Processional - as the bridesmaids and bride enter the cathedral
- Psalm (optional)
- During the Signing of the Register
- Blessing (optional)
- Recessional - as the newlyweds and their wedding party exit the cathedral

You may also choose some hymns but we recommend that you only have hymns if most of your guests are regular church goers and will know the tune and sing out. Otherwise you might find it's just you and the celebrant singing!

While there is some flexibility in music choice, the following pages list the music that can definitely be performed on your wedding day. Please note that the links included are to recordings by various choirs so the live sound in the cathedral will not be exactly the same as these recordings. There are many other recordings of these pieces but the ones listed here are chosen as the best versions available at the moment on YouTube.

Also listed are the royal weddings that have featured this music, so you can feel just like a princess walking down the aisle!

Use of recorded music is permitted with permission from the Celebrant or Director of Music, however it may be an infringement of copyright to broadcast professionally recorded music in any public arena without a licence which includes all Christian wedding services. Recorded music with a sung text must be God-related, regardless of whether it's during the service or before or after. Instrumental versions of secular songs are often available which exclude the sung texts. Sometimes these songs are often more suited to the reception than the service.

The best possible indication of how choral music sounds in St Paul's is to attend a choral service at the Cathedral at 5.10pm Tuesday-Friday; 10.30am Sunday; or 6.00pm Sunday.
